President Aiming to Bolster Defense of Europe and Asia

Start on Policy to Halt Far East Economic Deterioration Is Among '55 Foreign Goals—Big Four Talks Pondered

By JAMES RESTON

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—President Eisenhower returned from Georgia tonight, rested and ready for the second half of his Administration.

He brought back an almost completed State of the Union message, but he was primarily concerned this year, as last, with the State of the World.

According to his aides, the President's foreign objectives for the year were as follows:

¶To fill the gaps in the defenses of Western Europe by adding West Germany to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

¶To complete the rearmament understanding for that part of the world.

¶To work out the beginnings of a long-range Asiatic economic policy to deal with the economic deterioration of the Allied and uncommitted nations of that area.

¶To complete negotiations for an international agency to work on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

¶To work for a settlement with the Soviet Union of the Austrian and German problems, but to avoid, in the process, any general agreement that would seem to legalize the Soviet sphere of in-

1. The first step is to identify the problem. This is often done by the user, who may report a symptom or a specific error message. The user may also provide a description of the problem, such as "the system is slow" or "the data is incorrect".

2. The second step is to gather information. This involves asking the user for more details about the problem, such as when it started, how often it occurs, and what steps have been taken to try to solve it. The user may also provide logs, screenshots, or other evidence of the problem.

3. The third step is to analyze the information. This involves looking for patterns, trends, and other clues that might help to identify the cause of the problem. This may involve looking at the logs, the data, or the system configuration.

4. The fourth step is to develop a solution. This involves identifying the root cause of the problem and then developing a plan to fix it. This may involve changing the system configuration, updating software, or other actions.

5. The fifth step is to implement the solution. This involves making the changes to the system and then testing to see if the problem has been resolved.

6. The sixth step is to evaluate the solution. This involves checking to see if the problem has been resolved and if the system is working as expected. If the problem has not been resolved, the process may need to be repeated.

France Will Meet Tariff Deadline; Strikes Dwindling

By HERBERT GOLDMAN
Special to The New York Times

PARIS, June 5.—Maurice Couve de Murville said France's partners in the Common Market today that despite the nationwide strikes now ending in a calm, the Government would meet the July 1 deadline for the abolition of remaining tariffs in the European trade bloc.

Today workers in the vast automobile industry, the steel and shipbuilding sectors, the post and telegraph offices and other public institutions were urged to go back to work. Couve was expected to start touring southern France and the North tomorrow.

At the end of the week, it is expected, the nationwide strike, now in its 10th day, will be at its quietest.

Italian Premier Bars Role for Reds

By PAUL HOFMANN

Special to The New York Times

ROME, Feb. 14 — Premier Emilio Colombo, who will visit Washington for talks with President Nixon later this week, firmly ruled out today any possibility that the Communist party might come to power in Italy.

"For a complex of historical reasons, that party finds itself representing various strata of the people and ruling local administrations, especially in some regions where Socialist tradition was strong at the beginning of the century," he said.

He was referring to the Communist party's long history in the Western world.

3 Allies Proposing Looser Bonn Ties With West Berlin

By LAWRENCE FELLOWS

Special to The New York Times

BONN, Feb. 14 — The

ed States, Br have propose the Soviet Union that W its claim to be integral part of the West German Republic, Western allied sources said here today.

For this, the Russians would have to accept that West Berlin would retain special ties to West Germany—not only cultural and economic, but also political.

The Russians would also be required to guarantee fairly free access to West Berlin, with controls no more onerous than perhaps a show of an identification card or passport, customs inspection and an understanding that travelers not stray without permission from one of the accepted routes to the city, which is more than 100 miles inside East Germany.

Article 23 of the West German Constitution states that Berlin is a land of the Federal Republic—in other words, that it is one of 11 states in the Gulf.
